

Recap: December 12 Co-Curricular Assessment Team

Several hardy souls met Tuesday for the Co-Curricular Assessment Monthly Meeting. Below is a recap, which you can also find on the team website. The recording of the meeting is here.

This meeting was all about the CAS Self-Assessment process, which we started talking about in November. The tie between CAS and Assessment is this: CAS Standards call for areas in Student Affairs to have a robust assessment process (see Part 4 in the attached – Standards start on page 82, Assessment starts on Page 83). All DSS areas will take part in a CAS review, see schedule at the bottom.

And there is good news: Between now and mid-May, Rebecca Campbell, DSS Faculty Fellow for 2023–2024, will lead the efforts for DSS to become CAS-ready. Her materials from Tuesday’s meeting are attached.

Before the January 9 meeting

1. Talk with your supervisor about the schedule and expectations for CAS reviews.
2. Part of this discussion should include how you, as a member of the Assessment Team, will contribute to the CAS Self-Study.
3. Also, with your supervisor, decide which track should your area be on Slides 7-8-9 on the attached powerpoint.
